September marked some welcome returns to OperaVision. Those of you able to attend the 2018 Opera Europa autumn conference in Paris will surely not have forgotten Opéra Comique's great production of Orphée & Eurydice. We were happy to see it again and share it as the opening stream of our September programme. Even more importantly, the last day of September saw the return of live performance to OperaVision thanks to Opera North. Their lovely wide-ranging concert programme - from sitar concerto to Schubert song - was a boost for us all.

And in between these two events, we welcomed some newcomers to OperaVision. Lithuanian National Opera and Theater an der Wien offered us their first streams with two important works: from Vilnius, Prokofiev's The Gambler, with Asmik Gregorian directed by her husband Vasily Barkhatov; and from Vienna, Weber's Euryanthe directed by Christof Loy with Jacquelyn Wagner singing the title role. The Together series in Riga, another new contributor, offered two fine recitals recorded during Latvian lockdown starring Marina Rebeka and Alexander Antonenko.

The viewing figures are respectable. If we compare to this time last year, views of full-length performances have almost tripled - from 52 000 on September 2019 to 155 000 in September 2020. Details metrics follows below although numbers, of course, don't say everything. Above all, live performance is back and, although still far from reestablished everywhere, we should take heart from good examples. We continue on Friday with a live stream from Staatsoper Hannover.

OperaVision full-length performances (up to 30 September 2020)
